The reception, hanquet and card party given by the B. R. T. on Wednesday evening in Knights of Pythias half was an altogether delightful affair and managed with efficiency characteristic of railroad men. The guests were numbered by the hundreds and the yards would have proved entirely madequate hut for the experienced and able manner in which the B. R. T. did the switching and kept the tracks from becoming blocked. H. P. McCardis was general yardmester and was assisted by a large force of switchmen. Early in the evening the amount of trackage in the main yard was found to be inadequate and a spur was hustily constructed to the west, connecting with the reserve yards, where a force of employees were given cards. The yards were left clear though several times lengthy soctions were forced to 'saw by.' After switching nine trains the 'diners were picked up.' An excellent suppor was served, the tables being set four times and constantly replenished with the finest of edibles.

A most entertaining part of the programme was the presentation to H. P. McCardie by A. D. Charters, mister of Salt Lake lodge No. St. B. R. T., of a fine jeweled badge of the order. The token was in appreciation of Mr. McCardie's services in behalf of the order and was received by him with a feeling speech of thanks. Musical selections were given by Miss Ella O'Hornett, Miss Belie Kerr and Miss Mamie Piccock, and a recitation by Mrs. Gamble. In the card games some of the mast costly prizes ever given were bestowed upon the winners. Mrs. N. D. White received a silver cake banket, Mrs. George McSiera fine toilet set, Mr. Harry Hayes a silver lined smolking set and J. M. Wagner a napkin ring.
